"Throughout all this time, and despite all we have done, the biggest miracle, the purest form of beauty, has always been right before our eyes."

Björn Person is an internationally renowned artist based in Stockholm, Sweden. He looks upon his work as an art form rather than pure nature and documentary photography. He sees the animals as they truly are; emotional, thinking, and conscious beings with different personalities. He tries to portray their souls and translate their wisdom with his camera as his paintbrush. Björn has used his camera as a weapon against wildlife poaching and has donated substantial amounts towards wildlife conservation. As a fierce advocate for environmental preservation, he has launched the "Here Forever Foundation", which is dedicated to wildlife conservation. His photographs have been exhibited worldwide, including at the Swedish Museum of Natural History.
